

GEORGE J. GERNETH, MD

June 18, 1928-August 7, 2023

A respected member of the medical community and a beloved family man, passed away peacefully at Longwood in Oakmont on August 7, 2023. The cherished husband of Eileen (Jordan) Gerneth for 57 years, George was also the loving father to Lisanne G. (Brad) Smith and Megan G. (Peter) Bergmann. He held a special place in the hearts of his grandchildren Caroline, Charlie, Cooper, Otto, Hugo, and Annelies. His sister, Dr.

Jane (Richard) Garboden, was a constant source of support and connection throughout his life.

Born and raised in Point Breeze and Verona, George's life was marked by dedication, service, and compassion. After his graduation from North Catholic High School, he pursued higher education at the University of Pittsburgh, where he earned a B.S. in Chemistry. His desire to heal and help led him to the University's medical school, where he became a distinguished member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Honorary Medical Fraternity.

George's commitment to medicine and excellence shined bright as he obtained his medical license through the American Board of Ophthalmology. In 1955, he enlisted in the United States Air Force, serving in the 6048th USAF Dispensary. His dedication to his profession led him to numerous esteemed memberships, including the American Medical Association; Pennsylvania Medical Society; Allegheny Medical Society; American and Pennsylvania Academy of Ophthalmology; and the American College of Surgeons.

A prominent figure in the medical field, George served and chaired on various committees within these organizations. He was elected President of the Pittsburgh Ophthalmology Society, Pennsylvania Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology, and Allegheny County Medical Society. Throughout his career, he imparted his wisdom as a Clinical Associate Professor of Ophthalmology and Surgical Tutor at Veterans Administration Hospital.

George's medical practice was a testament to his caring nature and commitment to patient relationships. He practiced in Pittsburgh, Braddock, and Forest Hills, viewing his patients not just as individuals, but as friends. His dedication to education extended beyond his practice; he spent his early years volunteering to teach Residents at the former Eye and Ear Hospital, UPMC in Pittsburgh, nurturing the next generation of ophthalmologists.

An advocate for organized medicine and ophthalmology, George tirelessly served on hospital and medical society committees, advocating for the advancement of patient care. He considered ophthalmology "The Queen of Specialties," as it combined elements of medicine, surgery, neurology, pediatrics, and long-term patient relationships.

Outside of medicine, George loved birds, nature, reading, Ligonier and his friends. He was gentle and kind, compassionate and loving. His sense of humor and quick wit were a testament to his vibrant spirit, leaving an impression on all who had the privilege of sharing joyful moments alongside him.

Friends and relatives are invited to pay their respects at the BURKET-TRUBY FUNERAL HOME CREMATION & ALTERNATIVE SERVICES, INC. on August 17 from 5-7 p.m. A Mass of Christian Burial will be held at St. Bede Church in Point Breeze on August 18 at 10 a.m., followed by a private entombment in Homewood Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, contributions in memory of George may be made to Blind & Vision Rehabilitation Services of Pittsburgh. (<https://www.bvrspittsburgh.org/make-a-donation/>)
