Golf was his passion and he never stopped his pursuit of perfection of the game, encouraging those around him to do the same. Joe was known for his keen wit and jovial personality. The memory of his one-liners will live on in his children and grandchildren. Though his humor crept into every aspect of his life, so also did his great faith and high moral standards. He was steadfast in his beliefs, love of his family, and devoted and active member of St. Bernard Church, Mt. Lebanon for over 60 years. Truly blessed are his family, relatives, and friends to have known Joe, and are confident at his passing he heard the words, "well done my good and faithful servant" He will be deeply missed. Lebanon, on Wednesday from 4:00 until 7:00 p.m. Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at St. Bernard Church (St. Michael the Archangel Parish), 311 Washington Rd., Mt.
