

"Birds" Eye View

"Robin" was the wife of Joseph But an old "Crow" he surely was He'd just sit on the porch in silence

And it was all the neighborhood buzz

You see Joe was a pitcher for the "Cardinals"

But he had lost his desire to play

He quit the team and

"Flew" back to his "Nest"
To his old hometown of L.A.

It was the house on

"Meadowlark" lane

And a real nice place it would seem

But you could hear the whispers of the neighbors

Calling him a "Dodo" for leaving the team

Now Joseph was nobody's fool

He'd speak up about anyone dissing him

Yes he'd turn into a

"Vulture" right quick

And believe me you wouldn't be kissing him

"Mynah" your own business

he'd shout

And like a "Bat" out of hell

they'd run

You see Joseph refused to be "Pigeon" holed

Into a sport that was no longer fun
