

The Christmas They Never Forgot

Dad wasn't home much at all For him and Mom did not get along
And us kids were blaming ourselves
Thinking we had done something wrong

But Mom had told us straight out
Her and dad didn't see eye to eye
And it was 7 days until Christmas

And all we could do was cry

Yes we cried ourselves to sleep Believing nothing would be under the tree
Because we were thinking that Santa was mad That Mom & Dad were not together you see

Christmas had finally come
And we all made our way down the stair
And talk about a child's delight
There were more presents
than a child could bear

We ripped open the presents like crazy With more gusto than you'd ever know
And then coming down the stairs was Daddy Holding hands with our Mom in tow

We all smiled and hugged each other
And said; Daddy are you home to stay
He never did answer the question
But it was a Christmas like no other day
