Georgia was a force of nature, a kind, compassionate person full of love for everyone, and especially children. Georgia was employed at UMPC for 10 years as an ultrasound technician, retiring in 2004. She spent her entire adult life celebrating family and serving God and her savior, Jesus Christ through church, community service support, and bible study groups. A seasoned member of weekly women's fellowship meetings for 20-plus years, Georgia inspired and was inspired by her Christian sisters. Her well-worn Bibles and study guides are a testament to her love for God, to know Him better, and to make Him known to others.
