Timothy's pride and joy was his two sons. He could be found at all of their sporting events, rooting them on. He was an avid concert goer, huge golfer, enjoyed cruising around on his motorcycles, and a talented carpenter and cabinet maker. He enjoyed hunting with those closest to him, and could always make new friends with just about anyone. His family joked that he was the Mayor of many areas. He also enjoyed many friends, family, and memories from his time in Colorado. His most treasured moments were those spent with his family and ones he loved.
