

Poem In Titles Of "Board Games"

In the beginning she had no "Clue"
Of her husband's infidelity it seems
And he pleaded with the Mistress he was seeing To please

"Don't Spill The Beans"

But somehow the word got out And he knew that he was in "Trouble"

And in most cases he would've taken off Packed up and got out on the double

For he claimed he still loved his wife

And just dreaded the "Risk" of losing her

But their marriage was becoming a "Battleship" Sinking so low no words would be soothing her

Yes the marriage had ruined her "Life"

And she was "Sorry" she ever did it

And she was starting to lose her "Marbles" Because her husband still would not admit it

But not even his "Monopoly" of real estate Could keep them together for a minute

You see he fell into his own
"Mousetrap"

Trapping what he shoulda never let in it
