Patricia "Pat" led an interesting and ever-changing life. As a young adult, she was employed as an artist in Pittsburgh where she met and married August Crenner. While raising her children, she worked from home. First, as an excellent seamstress and later as a housemother to five or six girls at a time who were going to school and needing room and board. Pat had a gift for hospitality and entertaining. As her family grew, Pat decided to follow her passion by attending college and earning a nursing degree at the age of 50. She worked as an LPN and later as a private duty hospice nurse. Pat devoted countless hours of her time assisting with and caring for her grandchildren. She relished her role as a grandma. We will be forever grateful for all her help.

After being widowed, Pat moved to Colorado, becoming a resident of Denver where she made many new friends and took part in many senior activities. Pat was always busy and enjoyed a lively social life. Pat was married for a second time to Kenneth Tatman at the age of 79. She wasn't one to slow down and was always looking to the future. Pat will be missed by all.
